Mixed Reactions Aired At Rt. 45 Project Hearing

40 Persons Hear State Highway Dept. Engineer Explain Plan

State plans to relocate a section of Rt. 45 between Salem and Lisbon met with conflicting reactions from the 40 persons present at a public hearing in City Hall Tuesday afternoon.

Protests were registered by business proprietors who would be affected by the relocation and by persons who objected to the state's intention to make the relocated section a "limited access" segment.

Officials Approve Project

Approval of the project was given by Salem city officials and other proponents who cited the dangerous curves which would be eliminated and other advantages which would result from the relocation.

Carl Armstrong, survey engineer of Division 11 of the State Highway Department, explained the state's plans and replied to questions and criticism.

Strong opposition to the relocation was registered by Mrs. Harriet Driscoll, who operates a kennel near Little Beaver Creek. "I won't be hurt, I'll be annihilated if the project goes through," she said.

John McConner and Ernest Whitacre, both operators of farm markets near the affected area, objected to the state's intention to make the new segment a "limited access" stretch. Other persons registered protests against the project.

Albert Morris, president of the Salem Planning Commission, who talked in favor of the project, said the present road is a bottleneck for economical transportation.

He stressed that there should be good means of transportation between Salem and the county seat. "A good road is vital to the industrial development of Salem's southern area," he claimed.

Curtis H. Vaughan, City Council president, voiced approval of the project, citing the danger contained in the winding curves of the portion of the road involved.

Galen Greenisen, Columbiana County commissioner, also spoke in favor of the project.

The proposed relocation would begin at a point 800 feet south of the Lisbon Grange Hall and run in a northeasterly direction for 1.6 miles to rejoin Rt. 45 at Zeigler's.

Council Passes 4-Ton Limit On 6th, 9th Sts.

Salem City Council Tuesday night unanimously passed an ordinance establishing a maximum load limit of 8,000 pounds on trucks that make use of E. 6th St. and E. 9th St. for carrying construction equipment and supplies to the site of the new senior high school.

Council's decision followed recommendation of the streets committee and is a result of the discussion that transpired at its Jan. 15 meeting which was attended by E. S. Kerr, superintendent of schools, and Darrell Padley, board of education business manager.

At that session councilmen told the school officials that heavy use of the light based streets would ruin them and that the city should not, therefore, be required to pay the cost of upkeep and repair.

At present work is being done by the school contractor at 774 N. Lincoln Ave., former site of the Bennett property, to provide for a back-door approach to the new school site.

Louis Armstrong Unperturbed By Dynamite Blast

Blast Occurs Outside Knoxville Hall During Band's Jazz Concert

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A dynamite explosion outside scarcely caused Louis Satchmo Armstrong and his Negro-white band to miss a beat Tuesday night in a jazz concert before a segregated audience.

"That's all right, folks," the gravel-throated Negro trumpeter quipped, as the sound of the blast echoed through the administration building at the city's Chilhowee Park. "It's just the phone."

Nobody got excited, only a few persons got up to see what happened, and the show went on. There were no injuries and scarcely any damage.

One Stick of Dynamite
The blast, which police said apparently was caused by no more than a single stick of dynamite tossed from a passing car, ripped a four-foot hole in mud about 200 yards east of the building.

About 2,000 whites and 1,000 Negroes were in the building. Armstrong and his combo had returned from an intermission. They were striking up "Back o' Town Blues."

There were three Negro and two white musicians in the band, in addition to a Negro songstress and Armstrong.

He said the incident here, which he obviously wasn't taking very seriously, would not affect his current tour. The group will play tonight in Columbia, S. C., as scheduled, he said.

"Man, the horn don't know anything about it," he said. "I'll play anywhere they'll listen."

Police said the explosive apparently was tossed over a 10-foot wire fence from a car which passed the building without lights. They said they had no clues as to who threw it.

Segregation groups previously have protested white and Negro audiences, even on a segregated basis, at Chilhowee Park for concerts such as Armstrong's. But there had been no public protest against Tuesday night's program, billed well in advance.

The explosion was this area's second in a week with racial overtones.

Last Thursday night, several sticks of dynamite exploded in the heart of nearby Clinton's Negro section, slightly injuring a Negro woman and baby and damaging Negro-owned property.

Mob Wrecks Phone Exchange

Progress Reported In Strike Negotiations

STEUBENVILLE, Ohio (AP) — About 35 men broke into the Dillonvale exchange of the struck Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co. Tuesday night and smashed windows, doors, switchboards and fixtures.

The exchange was knocked out of operation, and persons who tried to place calls to Dillonvale today were informed by Steubenville operators that the exchange is "out of service for the day."

The new violence came as negotiators for the company and the Communications Workers Union were reported nearing agreement in Columbus on a contract to end the seven month-old strike.

The union repeatedly has denied any knowledge of the cable cuttings and other vandalism which has marked the long strike.

Nobody was hurt in the Dillonvale affair, Eugene Hobart, Howard Dean and Richard Fleener, "supervisory employees" who were on duty when the mob entered, filed the small building. Jefferson County sheriff's deputies said they were unable to identify any of the vandals.

By the time officers arrived, the exchange was deserted.

In Columbus, another negotiation session was set for 2 p.m. Thursday in the Seneca Hotel.

E. L. Phillips, the federal mediator who has worked with the opposing groups for weeks in an effort to end the strike, was optimistic Tuesday night. He said: "We don't want to raise any."

Pair Charged With Slaying 2 In Grocery

Progress Reported In Strike Negotiations

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Stark County authorities say a recommendation from Prosecutor Joseph McNeerney of Muskingum County led them to charge two Zanesville men with the murder Nov. 23 of two employees of a Uniontown grocery store.

In jail are Dale Bundy, 39, and Russell Thomas McCoy, 22. McCoy is already charged with the Feb. 9 murder of his half-sister Louise See, 46, and her husband, Lloyd, 39.

Bundy and McCoy are accused of shooting to death Reynold P. Amadio, 30, manager of the County Line Market in Uniontown, and Paul E. Cain, 35, a clerk.

Norman J. Putman, Stark County prosecutor, declined to reveal any information in the case. He said he will withhold all details leading up to Bundy's arrest until "the day of the trial."

Canton police records show Bundy was arrested in Stark County for armed robbery in 1940. He was released, broke parole, went back to prison in 1949, and finally was let out in January, 1950. He has a long record of misdemeanors, police said.

A Muskingum County grand jury will go into special session Tuesday to consider separate charges against McCoy in the Sees' slaying.

PROGRAM IS PLANNED
LISBON — A program on "Let's Make Our Pennies Hop" will be presented at the meeting of the Knox Township Home Demonstration Group Tuesday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Emmet Hole — a mile south of Rt. 62 on the Johnson Road.

Mrs. Clarence Motts and Mrs. J. N. Baker will be the leaders.

Offer Egypt Half Of Suez Tolls

4-Nation Plan Drawn For Canal Operation

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld was expected to relay to Egypt today a four-nation plan for interim operation of the Suez Canal that would give Egypt at least half the tolls.

Authoritative sources said representatives of the United States, Britain, France and Norway presented the plan Tuesday night in a 30-minute meeting with Hammarskjöld. It reportedly hinged on these two main points:

1. Dividing the canal tolls with Egypt on a 50-50 basis once the waterway is opened to shipping. Tolls would be paid to the World Bank or to the U.N. itself. Half the money then would be credited to Egypt and the other half held until a final canal settlement is reached.

2. Use of the 103-mile canal by ships of all nations, including Israel.

The British Foreign Office said the world's major shipping nations had agreed to share the Suez tolls with Egypt, but London observers predicted the Egyptians would demand 100 per cent payment.

From the time Egypt nationalized the canal July 26 until it was blocked during the October-November invasion, many shippers paid their tolls to the old Suez Canal Co. in London and Paris. The fees were being held pending settlement of the company's claims against Egypt for the nationalization.

The U.N. announced Deputy Undersecretary Alfred G. Katzin would fly to Egypt today for talks with U.N. officials on canal clearance operations. There have been reports Egypt is holding up the clearance until Israel withdraws its troops from the Gaza Strip and the Sharm el Sheikh area on the Gulf of Aqaba.

Target date for opening the waterway to vessels of up to 10,000 tons — about 75 per cent of the normal traffic — is March 10. But recent reports have indicated that goal would not be met.

Ike To Report To U. S. Tonight On Middle East

Congress Leaders Meet with President To Oppose Sanctions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hennings (D-Mo.) said today "the general purport" of President Eisenhower's discussions of the Middle East with congressional leaders today was that the administration will support sanctions against Israel if the United Nations decides to apply them.

However, Sen. Knowland of California, the Senate Republican leader, told reporters no decision about possible support of sanctions had been "finalized."

Knowland said it was suggested in the meeting that an attempt be made to get the United Nations to give renewed assurances to Israel that U. N. troops will be stationed in the Gaza Strip and the Gulf of Aqaba when Israeli troops are withdrawn from those areas.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower will go on the air tonight to report to the American people on the Middle East situation and Israel's refusal to withdraw troops from the Gaza Strip and the Gulf of Aqaba. The White House said the hour would be decided later. It asked for time on all TV and radio networks.

Congressional leaders of both parties met with the President for 2 hours and 20 minutes.

Afterwards, Hennings told a reporter: "The general purport of what the President told us is that we would have to support the United Nations if the United Nations goes for sanctions."

Hennings said he understood Eisenhower would go on the air over national radio and TV networks, possibly tonight, to explain to the people the critical situation in the Middle East and how the administration is handling it.

The White House was expected to issue a statement on the meeting later. Hennings said that this was decided upon because there were so many divergent views.

"We tried to get together on something," Hennings said, "but that would have taken a week."

Nevertheless, the senator said, there was "no violent disagreement."

The session in the White House came to a strange finale. Normally, after such a get-together, leaders of both parties meet with reporters in the office of White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty.

No such arrangement materialized today although newsmen had been told ahead of time that they would get a briefing from the leaders.

From the executive branch, Eisenhower brought into the meeting Secretary of State Dulles. Also with him were Vice President Nixon and Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., U. S. ambassador to the United Nations.

Hennings said that Eisenhower didn't do a great deal of talking, himself.

"He has a bad cold, as you know," the senator said.

House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.) asked whether any agreements were reached, told newsmen: "There were agreements and disagreements."

Sanctions Discussed
Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, Republican House leader, and other participants said the whole field of sanctions—all kinds—was discussed.

Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark.): "A lot of people came to different conclusions. There were no commitments, but many suggestions. It was the freest discussion I ever participated in between the President and the legislative branch."

Asked whether the odds were for or against applying economic pressure to Israel, Knowland said he wouldn't speculate on betting odds.

The Senate Republican leader said there was a full and free discussion.

Army Gives Cupid Assist On Wedding

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Childhood sweethearts Howard Brenner and Dawn Merchant were to exchange marriage vows today with the groom's Army buddies giving Cupid a big assist.

The 22-year-old Brenner is a private first class in the 156th Transport Company stationed at Camp Leroy Johnson.

He and his 19-year-old bride had prepared for the ceremony with no best man, no flowers, no music, no friends. They felt lonely 1,000 miles from their Akron, Ohio homes.

But Lt. Roscoe Hope, commander of Brenner's company, heard about the ceremony and moved into action.

Plans called for Hope to walk down the aisle with pretty Dawn this afternoon and platoon leaders Lt. Paul Muller and Lt. Norman McNeill to serve as ushers.

Capt. Robert Bauman was to sing "Because" and "Through the Years" and Capt. Walter Dickey's 7-year-old daughter was appointed flower girl.

The little chapel was to be filled with the 121 men of Brenner's company.

"It's wonderful," said the bride. "This is just like the little church at home."

Middle East, Yugoslavia To Be Centers Of New Activity

Russia Seen Preparing For Full-Scale Renewal Of Cold War On Two Fronts

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

Soviet rulers appear to be preparing for a full-scale renewal of the cold war on two fronts—in the Middle East to fight off a threat of growing American authority, and against President Tito of Yugoslavia.

Party boss Nikita Khrushchev, and Premier Bulganin have drawn heavily once again from the old Stalinist arsenal of verbal weapons. In their speeches at a Bulgarian reception Tuesday night, the two Soviet leaders used such old familiar terms as "warmonger" and "insane international adventurers" to describe U. S. leaders.

One can speculate from this that Bulganin and Khrushchev, while they retain their nominal leadership of the party and government, keep their positions by toleration of the rest of the collective leadership. In their statements there is a hint of desperation, indicating a possibility that the Soviet population is being prepared for some sort of showdown among the Kremlin leaders themselves.

Along with the violent attacks on the United States, Bulganin and Khrushchev, and the Soviet press itself, have raised the old demand, so familiar in Stalin's time, for "vigilance" against internal and external enemies. This cry was raised in the same way during the struggle for power in 1953 after Stalin's death. It preceded the arrest and execution of police boss L. P. Beria.

But while the Soviet Union's leaders struggle with their own internal political problems and with what appears to be a growing ferment among the youthful sector of the population, they appear to be throwing up breastworks against further Soviet propaganda losses in their satellite Communist empire and in the Middle East.

Moscow has indicated it blames Tito for much of its trouble in Hungary, Poland and the other satellites. Bulganin's words on the subject remind the observer of the heyday of Stalinism. Bulganin called Imre Nagy, the Hungarian Communist who tried to go Tito's way, a "vile traitor" and puppet of the United States.

The other front in the full-scale renewal of the cold war is the Middle East, Bulganin warned it was in for a "hell of atomic and hydrogen war" if it listened to the United States. This indicates the Soviet leaders fear American policy may make some headway toward lessening Middle East tension.

Violence on the international front invariably denotes internal weakness in the Soviet Union. The Bulganin and Khrushchev statements seem to add up to nervousness, which is forcing a return to Stalinism so that the home front, in the U.S.S.R. and the satellite nations, may be held in check.

INCOME TAX PRIMER

Claiming Your Deductions

By RICHARD A. MULLENS
Written for NEA Service

Coming up in this and the next article of the primer is to help over the fourth step to a correct tax return — claiming your deductions.

This is an important step to all taxpayers for each person regardless of the amount of his income must decide whether he will itemize deductions on his return or claim the so-called standard deduction which amounts to about 10 per cent of income under $10,000.

THE IDEA IS TO choose whichever of these two amounts gives the larger deduction. Most taxpayers find that the standard deduction gives the larger amount but before you can wisely decide which amount is better for you figure out which deductions you can claim.

Here they are:
You can claim as a deduction contributions to recognized non-profit religious charitable educational and scientific organizations; those to societies for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals and those to governmental organizations for exclusively public purposes.

You cannot deduct dues paid to social organizations even though they have charitable or welfare subsidies to which gifts are deductible. You cannot deduct gifts to individuals no matter how deserving they may be. Contributions to political parties or to any organization which uses the money to influence legislation are not deductible.

There is a limitation of 20 per cent of your adjusted gross income on the amount that can be deducted except that an additional 10 per cent (or 30 per cent in all) is allowed if paid to exempt religious organizations, schools or hospitals.

ANY CONTRIBUTION claimed must have been actually paid in cash or property in 1956. A pledge to pay money in some future year is not deductible in 1956.

All interest paid on loans can be itemized on page 2 Form 1040 except interest paid on loans incurred to buy wholly tax-exempt securities or single premium life insurance or annuity contracts. The taxpayer deducting the interest must be legally obligated to pay the interest.

Those of you who are purchasing a home by monthly payments are undoubtedly paying a considerable amount of interest each month. In many instances the interest payments will be so large that it will pay you to itemize all your deductions rather than take the standard one.

When a loan is repaid in monthly amounts a certain amount of each payment is usually for interest while the rest is either applied on the principal or for insurance service charges and the like. If you don't know how much of your monthly payment is for interest ask the bank or person to whom you make the payments for a statement showing the interest payments you made in 1956.

INTEREST CHARGES on installment purchases can now be deducted even though not separately stated as long as there is at least a carrying charge separately stated. If carrying charges on an installment purchase are separately stated but the amount of interest included therein is not separately stated then the carrying charges will be considered to include not more than a six per cent interest charge based on the average unpaid balance under the contract during the year but not in excess of the carrying charge attributable to that year.

Many of the taxes you paid in 1956 can be deducted on Page 2 of Form 1040 if you choose to itemize your deductions. To be deductible the tax must be imposed on you and paid by you. That means you cannot deduct taxes you pay on your mother's property.

Page 9 of the official instructions gives a list of taxes which you can and cannot deduct the most important of which are state income taxes property taxes and local gasoline and retail sales taxes.

MOST TAXPAYERS do not have receipts or do not keep a record of small payments for deductions like gasoline tax and sales tax. The Internal Revenue Service may allow an estimated deduction provided it is reasonable.

The gasoline tax can be estimated by dividing the total number of miles driven in 1956 by the average number of miles your car operates on a gallon of gas. Then multiply this by the state and any local tax per gallon. Do not include the Federal gasoline tax. It is not deductible.

The following plan will give you a reasonable estimate of the sales tax. There is generally no sales tax on rent insurance or savings. First add up what you spent or set aside for items on which there is no sales tax and subtract it from your total expenses.

To this remainder add anything you bought out of savings or installments that would be subject to sales tax. Multiply the sum of these by your sales tax rate. This will give you the amount to deduct as sales tax. If you live in a locality where food is subject to sales tax add what you spent on food to the amount subject to tax.

NEXT— Medical expenses and care.

C. of C. Opposes Aid for Schools

Sees No Critical Classroom Shortage

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Chamber of Commerce said today there is no critical national shortage of classrooms, and that it regards federal aid for school construction "unwise and unnecessary."

The chamber position was presented to a House Education subcommittee by Thomas A. Ballantine of Louisville, Ky., chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Committee on Education.

He said in prepared testimony: "It is the consensus of business in this country that the states and their communities are responsible for, and able to finance the development of the school systems required by their citizens."

Federal help he said, "would lead inevitably to the transformation of public education from a state and local function to one increasingly directed by the federal government."

Ballantine said a report by the U.S. Office of Education states 63,000 new classrooms were built in the year ending last fall. About 49,000 of these would have taken care of the report's estimated enrollment increase of a million and its estimated figure of 14,000 for abandoned classrooms, Ballantine said.

Baltimore Delays End Of Dock Strike

BALTIMORE (AP) — Baltimore stood alone today as the only port holding up settlement of a week-old strike of the International Longshoremen's Assn.

Presence of a top federal mediator and two more hours of talk among officials of the Steamship Trade Assn. Tuesday night produced no apparent results. Another session was scheduled late today.

The chief of Baltimore's 7,400 ILA members, August J. Idzik, insists the STA go along with a master contract negotiated Sunday with New York shippers and agreed to Tuesday night in Hampton Roads, Va.

Philadelphia also reached agreement Tuesday and New England dockers are reported ready to return to work when they get the word.

The STA in Baltimore balked at four provisions of the master contract — coastwise bargaining, an additional 2 cents in welfare payments, one more paid holiday and an escalator clause on wages for the third year.

Doubled Demand For Water Seen In 23 Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government needs to prepare for doubled demands upon the nation's water supply 23 years hence, Congress has been told.

Secretary of Interior Seaton said in a report made public today, that present water use in the United States amounts to 20 billion gallons a day — six times the 1900 rate.

"It has been estimated," he said, "that by 1960 use will be about double present day requirements."

HIRE METER CHECKERS

TIFFIN, Ohio (AP) — City Council has enacted an ordinance authorizing civilian appointees to replace police in checking parking meters. Two civilians will be employed at $2,500 a year each for a 40-hour work week. Council members said this would free police for other duties.

Eulogized were Edward Eugene Logue, Edward Morrow, Myron Griffith, Robert Suggett, Alvin Piper, James Helman, Lawrence Breault, George Glogan, Harry Tennyson and Ray Leslie.

The Post also gave certificates of meritorious service to the following representatives of organizations which have assisted the Legion in parades, Santa Claus repair shop and other civic projects: Castle Smith, representing the Salem Chamber of Commerce; Lloyd Gordon, Salem retail merchants; A. C. Bartholomew, Salem automobile dealers; James Irey of the Salem Police Department; George Zeigler of the Auxiliary Police Department; Salem Manufacturers Association.

the Legion Quaker City Band; Salem Fire Department; James Gregg, for publicity and judging. Four Legionnaires were awarded special certificates for their outstanding service to the Post and the community: John Herman Jr., past Post Commander for promoting junior activities in Salem and his interest in civic affairs and post activities.

The Legion Medal of Merit was presented to Aubrey Hayes for his outstanding work with the Explorer scout troop; the Legion Medal of Music was awarded to Leslie Brantingham, past president of the American Legion Quaker City Band; and the Junior Baseball medal was awarded to Henry Meisner as manager of the American Legion Junior baseball team for the past three years.

Francis McNicol made the presentations. Atty. Walter Jay Hunston showed pictures of the band's trip to Washington and the Inaugural parade.

Lunch was served by William Shaeffer and Vern Rich.

An Area Of Doubt

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — When a man isn't 45 years old—or, naturally, whether he is—he leaves an area of doubt.

Life is just about to settle this area for me.

Tomorrow will destroy the doubt. I'll be a year older. Will I feel 99 years old? Will I feel like 19 years old, when I went in for collegiate wrestling (middle-weight champ, night hours, coeducational) or will I feel like two years old when I still insisted on autographing diapers?

The thing I am sure of is that I won't feel like 45, which I won't be.

Who am I? Where did I come from? Where do I want to go? When I was a child I looked into a mirror and asked myself these questions. There was none to give me answer. Now again, after the trouble of many years of living, I ask the same question. The answer is the same.

I walk the walls of this world—as every man must—and I see no security except the courage to walk and defend these walls. What does a man learn while walking when he isn't 45? He has seen so many people from the wall of this world from pride, envy, malice and hate that he knows that for these reasons—and other reasons—they no longer walk.

But in his walk along the wall he also misses many he met along the way—from kindergarten to Korea and beyond — whom he treasured and who had every ability except how to escape death. Some didn't try. Some did. In any case frost changed and held them. When a man isn't 45 years old, where is he?

Time, the merlin of the heart, stern calendar of the blood, measures an anxious vein, casts a forward shadow on the splendid tapestry of life's wonder, performance and desire.

Since I was a child life was always a thing of awe to me and in my mind there was always an interior clock.

The clock didn't give me a particular message. I was just aware of it. As the people I knew rose and disappeared after their fun in the sun or their defeat in the dark, I had the feeling that time was going by, too, and sometimes wondered whether I would join them in sunlight or shadow.

But I never had much of a sense, really, of either going or staying after I grew up. I suppose I felt I would probably be around a little longer — why I don't know.

Most of his life not being 45 years he naturally wonders—since the law doesn't guarantee he won't be 55 or 105—who will walk the walls of this world if he should no longer walk them, as in time he won't.

Will they be his kin? Will they stand upright? If they are strangers, will they walk taller?

These are merely a few of the thoughts of a man who has spent most of his life not being 4 years old.

Tell you tomorrow.

Two Racial Bills Dead In Georgia Legislature

ATLANTA (AP) — Two proposals dealing with racial segregation apparently are dead for the current session of the Georgia Legislature.

They are a bill to prohibit interracial sports and other activities and a resolution calling for an investigation of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People. Both have been sent to the house state of republic committee. Chances of either coming out before the legislature adjourns Friday are remote.

Chicagoans Protest Ban On Telecast Of 'Martin Luther'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Chicago group today protested to the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) the action of a Chicago television station in cancelling a telecast of the film "Martin Luther."

The petition was filed by the Action Committee for Freedom of Religious expressions, composed of representatives of various Protestant organizations.

The group claimed to have protesting petitions bearing signatures of about 150,000 Chicagoans, and that additional signatures are coming in at the rate of about 50,000 weekly.

The petition to the FCC describes as "arbitrary" the action of WGN-TV in canceling a showing of the film last December. The petition said the station announced the cancellation as a result of an "emotional reaction."

The petitioners ask that the station's license be revoked. WGN-TV is owned by the Chicago Tribune. The petition says "condemnation of the film can be identified in almost every case with the 'Roman Catholic Church.'"

Martin Luther was a leader in the Protestant reformation in the 16th Century. The film about his life has been shown throughout the world, but the Chicago telecast would have been a U. S. television premiere.

At the time WGN-TV announced cancellation of the showing of the film, Ward L. Quaal, the station's vice president and general manager, said that shortly after announcement of the scheduled showing "it became apparent that there was an emotional reaction to the plan."

Later in announcing it will not reschedule the film, WGN-TV gave as its reason "an effort to prevent further misunderstandings, ill-will or controversies from being injected into the homes of the families we serve."

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. E.M. Burke, chancellor of the Chicago Roman Catholic Church Archdiocese, has

Check Point

If Merry Christmas and Happy New Year happened a long time ago and Easter is too far away to take seriously, you need a check point.

A check point tells you where you are so you will know how far you have come from where you were and how far you have to go before arriving at where you will be. Is that clear?

Basketball season is new over for schoolboys. Tournaments are starting. This is the beginning of the end for America's most popular indoor sport.

Baseball players are off to their training camps in what the sports writers call "salubrious climes." The writers go to spring training, too, which is not easy to figure out. But whether thou goest etc.

Students who were being fingered by failure at the close of the first semester now are in the throes of bearing down in a struggle for survival in the second semester.

Coal users are reordering. The men at the filling station says the antifreeze is undergoing a slow leak somewhere but there probably will be enough to last. No one notices a Christmas tie any more, but women are noticing spring finery and talking about the condition of their summer cottons — last summer's.

That is where you are, season-wise. Halfway between.

Diversiory Tactics

An official explanation of its decision to require six months' training for National Guardsmen has been released by the Department of the Army in the wake of the tempest blown up by Defense Secretary Wilson's testimony reflecting unfavorably on enlistees who may have tried to evade the draft during the Korean War.

The purpose of the six months' training, the Army declares, is to increase the National Guard's combat potential in modern war. That is all there is to it — no intention to cut down National Guard enlistments or to detract from its prestige as a vital part of the national defense.

Unfortunately, this important objective was lost sight of in the tempest that followed Defense Secretary Wilson's remarks about the National Guard during the Korean War.

It was a flagrant example of diversiory tactics in the discussion of public issues—to create so much excitement over an incidental remark that the main point was missed. The people who make a specialty of grinding axes in Washington are good at this sort of thing.

The people who turn the taxpaying grindstone owe it to themselves to be equally good at making the diversionists get back on the main track when they become derailed.

We Learn And Live

A striking example of the incredible changes of our times occurred when Kentucky school officials declared almost half of their classrooms unfit for student use shortly after the birthday of Abraham Lincoln, one of our greatest presidents who did his school homework on a slab of wood by the light of a fireplace, shaving off the wood when he wanted a clean slate, so to speak.

This is not intended to disparage pleas for better school facilities. It is intended simply to point up the continuing revolution in our way of life.

The school officials testified to a House Education subcommittee that 80 per cent of Kentucky's schools lacked central heating and that 38 per cent of the children attended schools with outdoor toilets.

Obviously there have been tremendous improvements in material comforts and sanitation since Lincoln's day. And it seems logical that a student who is comfortable and healthy would do better than one who is not.

It may be futile, but nevertheless it is interesting to speculate as to what sort of man and president Lincoln would have been if he had driven his own Jaguar to a progressive high school — one arm possibly a little sore from Salk vaccine shots.

United Tongues

Whatever Americans may think or say about President Eisenhower is their business, but when someone abroad starts taking pot-shots at him it is time for Americans to close ranks and defend their national leader.

This is a friendly warning to Viscount Hinchinbrooke, a Conservative, who objected in the British House of Commons to what he called Eisenhower's "cavalry barracks language" while talking to former Prime Minister Anthony Eden on the trans-Atlantic telephone when Britain and France invaded Egypt.

We have several spokesmen who could make Viscount Hinchinbrooke look like a tongue-tied contestant on a quiz show — including such improbable bedfellows as Mayor Wagner of New York, Secretary of Defense Wilson and Sen. McCarthy.

Art Of Diplomacy

By DAVID LAWRENCE

U. S., Israel Shadow Boxing Shows Egypt's Guilt

There is more than meets the eye in the statements issued by the President and the State Department on Sunday, which, on the surface, indicate a deadlock between Israel and the United States.

Actually, there is no real stalemate but a means, well known in the art of diplomacy, of emphasizing publicly and with considerable explicitness the commitments which are being undertaken by both the United States and Israel. For when the Israeli troops are withdrawn, as inevitably they will be, the record of "assurances" has to be clear and precise.

The quick trip to Israel of Ambassador Eban to talk things over with his own government—after lengthy conferences with Secretary Dulles—is part of the program by which the United States hopes to convince the doubting Parliament in Israel that the record of promises now made favors rather than blocks a solution of Israel's problems in both the Gaza Strip and the Gulf of Aqaba.

Indeed, one can see in the text of the memorandum issued by the State Department a case being built up for assuring ready access of Israeli ships to the Suez Canal as well.

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER in his own statement drew Israel's attention to the provisions of the U.N. Charter that require the settlement of international disputes by peaceful means and then said:

"These undertakings seem to preclude using the forcible seizure and occupation of other lands as bargaining power in the settlement of international disputes."

But within a few hours a press dispatch was coming over the wires from the Suez Canal zone as follows:

"U.N. salvage work on the Suez Canal was at a virtual standstill today. . . . Informed sources said the U.N. salvage team which is costing the U.N. $20,000 a day will be unable to meet its March 10 deadline unless full-scale work resumes immediately. It has not been mentioned openly here but the whole operation appeared to hinge on the question of Israeli withdrawal from the Gaza Strip and the Coast of the Gulf of Aqaba."

New York Herald Tribune

"Authoritative sources said Egyptian officials have made it clear to Lt. Gen. Raymond E. Wheeler, head of the U.N. salvage work, that there is no chance of getting salvage work into full stride until the question of Israeli withdrawal is settled."

It may be asked, therefore, who is using force as a "bargaining power" in the settlement of international disputes? and who is defying the U.N. by refusing to let the salvage work proceed.

OBVIOUSLY the Republic of Israel can do little by herself to alter the course of events and must necessarily bow to the request to withdraw her troops but in doing so Israeli diplomacy has succeeded nevertheless in extracting some very serious commitments from the United States which must soon become commitments also of the United Nations.

The State Department's memorandum, dated Feb. 11 but just now made public, pointedly reminds Egypt of the pledge she made in 1950 to the United States that the Gulf of Aqaba "will remain free as in the past, in conformity with international practice and recognized principles of international law."

Then the United States goes on to make the following pledge of her own:

"In the absence of some overriding decision to the contrary, as by the international court of justice, the United States, on behalf of vessels of United States registry, is prepared to exercise the right of free and innocent passage and to join with others to secure general recognition of this right."

THIS NOTIFIES the world that the United States is prepared to join with other nations to see that Israeli ships are not prevented from using the Gulf of Aqaba.

It is a promise not only of unilateral but of multilateral action.

Israel now has the opportunity to use that pledge as the basis for her withdrawal of troops. Thereupon, the task of enforcing freedom of passage in the Gulf of Aqaba and eventually in the Suez, for Israeli ships becomes a responsibility of the United States.

That's what the historic exchange of views in the last few days really means and undoubtedly Ambassador Eban will so inform his own Parliament and thus pave the way for an early settlement.

Washington's 'Heirs'

By JERRY KLEIN

LEXINGTON, VA. George Washington has been dead more than a century and a half but even as America celebrates his birth, he contributed money toward the education of over 1,000 students at a university bearing his name.

Thanks to Washington's generosity and his refusal to accept payment for military service during the Revolution, America's first president continues to contribute almost $3 a year toward the education of every student at Washington and Lee University.

Washington would take no pay as commander of the Continental Army, but in 1785 the State of Virginia decided to compensate him "for the years he had spent away from Mount Vernon in the service of his country."

This compensation was not in cash, but in 100 shares of stock in the James River Navigation Company, which was chartered by the state the year before. The stock's par value was $20,000.

The navigation company's goal was a system of canals and locks which would provide a waterway linking the Atlantic with the Ohio River. This system also was a dream of Washington's so he agreed to accept the stock, provided he could donate it to some worthy institution instead of using it for personal benefit.

For 11 years, Washington held the stock himself because the company was making no profit and its securities were of questionable value. Then, in 1796, the company seemed to the general to be in a profitable position, so he looked for a beneficiary.

Some advised Washington to give the stock to educational institutions at Staunton or Fincastle, Va. But the general decided to present the securities to a small school called Liberty Hall Academy at Lexington.

The Academy was in jeopardy for lack of money and Washington's gift — "in those days one of tremendous proportions" — put it on its feet again. In gratitude, the school changed its name to Washington academy.

As things worked out, the general had been a bit premature. The James River Navigation Company didn't declare its first dividend until 1802 — three years after his death — when it enabled Washington Academy "to pay the most pressing of its debts."

Further dividends were paid during the following year and in 1820, Virginia pledged to pay 15 per cent dividends a year on the securities "forever afterward." However, the state changed its mind in 1892 when the par value of Washington's stock was increased from $20,000 to $50,000. Dividend payments were slashed from 15 per cent a year to 6 per cent.

This still yielded $3,000 a year to the school, now named Washington and Lee — after Robert E. Lee — university. But in 1928, under a state reorganization program, the Virginia Legislature voted to pay off such debts and retire them.

Because Washington and Lee was the only institution then receiving benefits from Washington's gifts to education, the university asked that his bequest be exempted from retirement and preserved in the name of the nation's first chief executive. The Legislature refused this request and paid the $50,000 to the university.

The money was placed in the general endowment fund and reinvested. Between 1802 and 1820, there were years in which Washington's gift earned as high as 18 per cent interest, although today's dividends average about 4 per cent.

Nevertheless, Washington and Lee University still gives thanks to the generosity of its first benefactor. Due to the miracle of compound interest, the $20,000 worth of stock given by Washington has brought the university over $400,000 and is still earning for students.

In spite of its description as "prairie wolf," the coyote is much smaller than the true wolf and more closely resembles the jackal.

'After Much Thought --- We Agree It's Awfully Heavy'

Congressional Statistical Smear

By RAYMOND MOLEY

Some congressional committees actuated by political considerations have in the past made low marks in honestly presenting the facts but an especially created Oscar for the smear of the year should go to the subcommittee on Privileges and Elections in the 84th Congress.

Sen. Albert Gore was chairman, and Mike Mansfield and Carl T. Curtis were the other members.

Sen. Curtis, it should be noted, disagreed vigorously with the report as well as with the methods followed in conducting the investigation.

The full report with exhibits is a mighty affair — nearly as large as the President's budget. Perhaps the very size of the thing precluded a careful examination by writers who have commented on it in magazines and newspapers.

Perhaps they took merely the summary that it pleased the majority of the committee to air to the public.

IN ANY EVENT, the content of the report, bad as it is, has been made worse by sloppy reporting hereon in at least one magazine and in two signed columns that I have seen.

There is space in this article for only a few specimens of the outrageous abuses of statistical method followed but I shall make it my business in due course to do what is within my power to expose this malicious hoax.

The basic data for the study were obtained by collecting information both from the givers and the receivers of money for the campaign. But the period upon which the major conclusions are based was only from Sept. 1 to Nov. 30.

By this method the contributions made to the two party organizations appeared very large while the amounts spent in money and manpower by labor organizations over the entire year are small.

IT IS ALSO basically a misrepresentation because these contributions include only money spent for professedly political purposes.

Thus there is omitted what is spent out of union funds for what are called "education and news dissemination" in print and on the airwaves.

There are various categories selected in order to show that a very large percentage of the money was contributed to the Republican party. While it is clear from a close reading of the report that the contributions were from "individuals," it has been easy for people who choose to smear corporations and business associations to say that "companies" or "firms" or "associations" gave the money. This, of course, is not true.

The aggregate for such a category as "military prime contractors," for example, is made up of contributions from officers and directors. The same person and his contribution can appear in several categories.

One man and his contribution, for example, appear in the "largest military prime contractors," the "largest oil companies," the "American Petroleum Institute," the "National Manufacturers Association," "12 selected families," and probably in several other groups in which individuals are not specified.

Therefore the meaning of the statistical compilations vanish in a series of duplications. If this committee were not entirely interested in pay political dirt, it might have found that this man was a very large contributor to many causes of a religious, philanthropic, and civic character.

ONE CATEGORY lists the contributions to the parties by 37 leading advertising agencies.

Presumably, as one commentator has indicated, this is to show that some of these companies were interested in getting business from the parties.

The pay dirt was thin, for only $51,600 was unearthed. It is worthy of note that the subcommittee failed to mention, in connection with this item, that the widow of a man who headed one of these agencies in his lifetime gave $64,400 to the Democratic party.

One of the most interesting items in the book is the identity of the largest individual contributor to either party. It was Lansdell K. Christie. He gave $670,564 to the Democrats, and $2,600 to "miscellaneous."

Bearer Is Entitled Etc.

By TRUMAN TWILL

The head man in Washington, it says here in a clipping I have been shuffling for a week, does not know whether or not to ask Congress for something between 20 and 40 billion dollars to dig holes in the ground for civilian security in case of atomic warfare.

I have been shuffling the clipping because of inability to make up my mind where I want to be if it happens. At one time, I thought I knew where I wanted to be, and it was not in a hole in the ground.

But my ideas have changed. My philosophic despair, you might say, is yielding to my native curiosity. Although I remain convinced that nuclear fission and fusion are more than men can cope with, no matter how many billion dollars' worth of holes they dig, I want to stick around in an observer's role to see how it turns out.

Let us, then, by all means dig holes in the ground and make certain by so doing that some of us will be able to share with the burrowing experts of the animal kingdom their lease on continuity of existence, come what may.

Let us duplicate subterraneously the civilization we have built upstairs, with all the comforts of home—a dual ignition system to guarantee that the spark of life will not be snuffed out.

But let us also be forewarned that if we do these things there may be some surprising results, thanks to Yankee ingenuity.

It might be nicer down there than it is up here.

Millions of us who have felt the impulse to retreat into a hole in the ground and pull the hole in after us might do that very thing and refuse to come out, whether or not the all-clear signal ever was sounded.

It is possible we might tap vertically a way of life that eludes us horizontally—plunging further into the hole for the warmth of the world when he needed it and surging upward into the cooling crust when we were in need of relief from the heat.

External climate then would be no more important to us than it is to earthworms. With the aid of air-conditioning and artificial sunshine, climate would be constant.

To produce all this, moreover, would provide such a stimulus to the economy that we would put the ants to shame with our industry. And for those who preferred to live upstairs, there always would be the option of staying there.

These are the reasons, Mr. President, why 20 to 40 billion dollars' worth of subterranean improvements would be worth the scratch, and the scratching. If a new dimension can be added to civilization for not more than the military budget for one year, let us make haste apace.

And as proof of sincerity, I consider it a privilege to be the first U.S. taxpayer to offer absolutely free the site of a burrow—with only one string attached. I want an irrevocable White House pass entitling bearer to all the courtesies of the Groundhog club.

I want to be sure to see how it turns out, if the worst comes to the worst. And I'd like to take a crack at vertical living.

Tennyson Revisited

Many rural communities are up in arms over being torn apart for new super-highways, vast shopping centers, new housing projects and general urbanization. Never have rippling brooks, leafy valleys and flowered hills taken the beating they are getting today.

It is the Bulldozer versus the Green Pastures, the Cement Mixer versus the Lowing Herd and the Dirt Truck versus the Barefoot Boy With Cheek of Tan, all over upland and lowland.

THE FOAMING WATERFALL of today is the toll station of tomorrow. The old cowbarn can get scooped up in a stream shovel any minute. Tennyson's famous verse about the brook must be rewritten:

I come from haunts of eot and hern,
I make a sudden sally
To dodge the engineers who burn
To desecrate a valley.
I steal by lawns and grassy plots,
I slide by hazel covers;
I soothe the sweet forget-me-nots
Where some steam shovel hovers.
By thirty hills my current swings,
My song is "Now or never!"
For babbling brooks are transient things. .
Thruways go on forever!
I chatter over stony ways,
But find it hard to enter
A rustic spot because today
It is a shopping center.
I wind about great rocks and trees
But now it's much like slumming
For just ahead are factories—
With supermarkets coming!
I skip, I slide, I glare, I spread
(It's well I am quite agile);
Cement machines lie just ahead
And they are not too fragile.
I murmur under moon and stars,
In brambly wildernesses,
Pursued by tractors and dump cars
As some new project presses.
Contrive I must to curve and flow;
A brook must be most clever;
Tomorrow I may have to "flow"—
But man goes on forever!

TWENTY-ONE sixth grade school kids who saved $300 by summer work pooled the dough for a trip to Old Sturbridge Village where they could study the life of the pioneers but changed their minds and, with the approval of their teachers, decided to play the stock market. . . . This would seem to be a record for the broad jump in educational institutions—We think the teachers should be spanked. . . . Will the pupils cut out the proverbial red apple and bring the bid and asked quotations each morning instead? . . . The children made their first investment in Radio Corporation of America. . . . Why not Allied Kid, Hershey Chocolate, Quaker Oats or, turning to the American Exchange, a few shares of Kidde Common.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

A lot of us will be prowling around the Barbary Coast come next July. And while some of the labor leaders will be seeking out old pirate coves, I know the more serious-minded proletarians will be interested in the native sections. So I can't wait to say to Walter Reuther, George Meany and Dave Dubinsky — come with me to the Casbah.

The clan will actually be gathering in Tunisia and the newsmen will be on hand to chronicle the beginning of a grim global battle between free labor's leaders and the Communists' worldwide sabotage apparatus.

In Tunis, the first week in July, will be some mighty well informed men, the spark-plugs of the International Confederation of Free Trade Unions.

The Russians especially fear the American union leaders for they are among the most sophisticated and best-informed Communist fighters.

These are signs that Moscow has the jitters long in advance of the July jammed session in Tunis. For on Feb. 6, the Russian radio charged that American unions are "conducting subversive and espionage activities" against the Soviet government.

YOU MAY DISAGREE with many of our labor chiefs, but there's no doubt that they are the toughest anti-Communists of all the free world's union leaders. And the White House counts on them to bolster the far more politically powerful unionists of other lands who are not infrequently taken in by Soviet whistles in the dark like a sailor on shore leave.

Moscow knows that our union officials are going to the meeting of the free world labor body—which talks for over 75 million workers—to insist on a tough fight against the Russians.

This is the time for such a battle. Our informed labor people, having just talked to their agents such as Irving Brown, summoned in from abroad, know that the appointment of Andrei Gromyko as a new Soviet foreign minister is the signal for swashbuckling Russian attacks on America.

Gromyko, to the informed, is the most viciously anti-American of all Russian leaders.

HIS APPOINTMENT will also signal the launching of a new type Communist International — aimed directly at us.

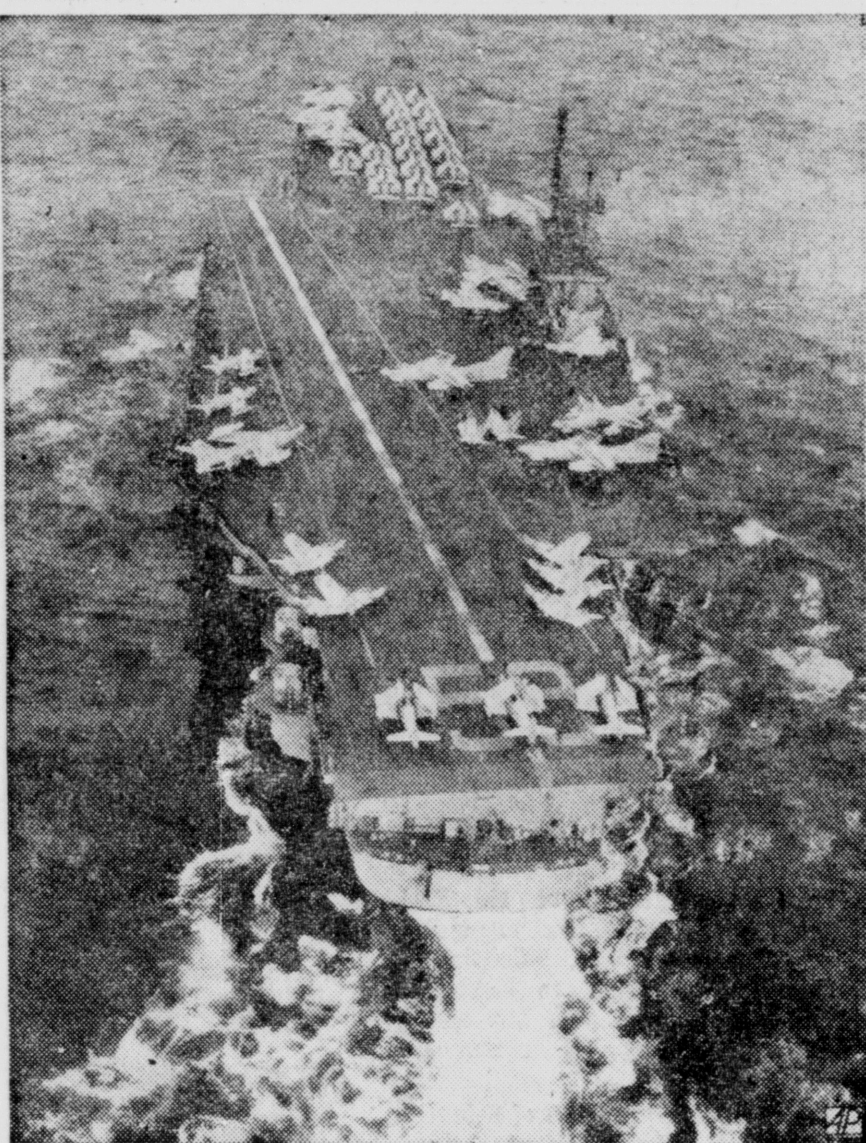

This will be called something like bilateral Communism. Bilateral, my eye. It will be the same old Soviet hacking machine. But it will make noises like giving "independence" to other Communist parties.

This will mean camouflaging Tito into looking like an Al Smith Democrat — you know, Tito took a walk. Well, the U.S. labor people can tell you Tito never did.

These labor observers have been accurate for over a decade. And they now say that Comrade Tito flew to Yalta last September to make a deal with the self-appointed patrons of the proletariat. That deal called for the taking over of Hungary — by Tito — as the beginning of a Balkan socialist empire.

Came the revolution and Russian tanks so crowded Budapest that there was no longer any room for Tito's ambition. He sulked. But he never actually broke with the Russians.

If he had given any indication of anger, or if he had in the past permitted a NATO base on his land in exchange for the billions of dollars worth of arms we gave him, the Russians would not have dared move in to crush the Hungarians.

But they did. And they told Tito they couldn't count on his keeping Hungary under control — so their deal with him was off.

What did Comrade Tito do? He muttered — but then ordered his army, equipped with our guns, to turn back Hungarian freedom fighters seeking refuge over his border.

FURTHERMORE on Feb. 12, Comrade Tito signed a pact with the Kremlin to work with the Russians "in the development of research in nuclear physics and the utilization of atomic energy."

Obviously, Tito didn't break with the Russians, much as the Russians would like it to appear that he really is an independent lad. Much depends on the Kremlin convincing the world that Tito is really an independent thinker — for how else can he be used to win the workers of the world over to the Russians who punish strikers with the death penalty?

So, come July in Tunisia, one of the first orders of business on free labor's agenda will be the uncamouflaging of Tito.

State Opens Bids On 20 Road Projects

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Department of Highways today opened bids on 20 road projects, the first this year. The apparent low bids totals $3,728,389 for 19 miles of roads and nine bridges.

At the same time, the department announced appointment of Ross Shultz as chief of the bureau of locations and design. He replaces Everett Preston, who probably will get a new assignment.

Israel

cussion of the Middle East situation in the meeting with the President, and that "Oh, yes sanctions were discussed."

Knowland Opposes Sanctions

Knowland reportedly has threatened to resign as a member of the U. S. delegation to the U. N. if the administration supports sanctions in an effort to force Israel to pull its troops out of the Gaza Strip and the Gulf of Aqaba.

The Congress members meeting with the President had virtually all taken stands earlier against sanctions. Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, Democratic leader of the Senate, paused on the White House threshold to restate his opposition to sanctions against Israel unless they are applied also to Egypt and Russia. But he said that while the Democratic Policy Committee supported this position unanimously Tuesday, "I don't think there is any Democratic view."

"I think there's an American point of view," Johnson added.

As he had told Secretary of State Dulles, Johnson said, "We shouldn't have one policy for the strong nations and one for the weak nations. My view is that there is no place for politics in foreign policy."

Others among the 28 visitors from the Capitol who spoke out against sanctions included Rep. Halleck (R-Ind) assistant minority leader in the House, and Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.). Smith said he thinks the emphasis should be on negotiation and attempting to work things out on a reasonable basis.

Meeting with the congressional leaders of both parties in the Cabinet Room at the White House, in addition to the President, were Vice President Nixon, Secretary Dulles and Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., American ambassador to the United Nations.

Those invited to the White House included the top party leaders of both Senate and House and the senior Democratic and Republican members of Foreign Affairs, Armed Services and Appropriations committees.

Secretary of State Dulles declined at a news conference Tuesday to rule out possible use of sanctions. But he noted at one point that "there are all kinds of sanctions," including moral, military and economic.

The administration found itself squeezed between Arab insistence that the United Nations impose sanctions on Israel and congressional demands that the United States oppose any such action as unfair.

Members of both parties have said that if sanctions are imposed on Israel, they should be applied also to Russia, India and other countries they say have ignored U.N. resolutions.

Sen. Saltonstall (R-Mass) expressed optimism that a "substantial understanding" with Israel is imminent. He said he is "very hopeful" Israel will agree to withdraw her troops, but there were no signs of general agreement with his feeling.

Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban left New York to report today at an important meeting of Israel's Cabinet in Jerusalem. He promised "a full report on my government's thinking" when he returns, but he did not say when that would be.

Israeli Premier David Ben-Gurion put forward earlier in the week proposals which a spokesman there described as an attempt to bridge the gap between the U.S. and Israeli positions. These proposals have not been made public.

The U. N. has called on Israel to pull its troops out of the Gaza Strip and the Gulf of Aqaba areas it captured last October. Israel has sought without success to get guarantees against Egyptian attacks from those areas before it withdraws.

Foreign Minister Charles Malik of Lebanon spent an hour at the State Department Tuesday and later told reporters:

"In the opinion of the whole Arab world, and indeed of the whole world, Israel must withdraw unconditionally."

Follansbee, W. Va., Residents Ponder Future Of Steel Mill

By JOE MICHL
Editor, Steubenville, (Ohio) Herald Star

FOLLANSBEE, W. Va. (AP)—This city of 4,800, only two years ago the scene of a dramatic fight by residents and others to save the Follansbee steel mill from being sold for junk, again is in the news, this time as an example of the "softening" in steel industry business.

Reports have varied from hopelessness to optimism. A few persons have expressed doubt that throughway, set forth in the survey, would remove Routes 62, 45 and 14 from the city proper.

Kridler also suggested that the city maintain use of a 50 by 140 foot lot on N. Howard Ave. for its own use. Property owners on N. Howard Ave. had petitioned that the city give up the property.

Can't Act on Petition

Another letter from City Engineer F. S. Barckhoff informed councilmen they could not act on a petition, submitted by property owners on Ridgewood Ave. between S. Union Ave. and Park St. to have the street paved because only 58.2 per cent of a required 60 per cent of property owners had signed the petition.

The letter and the original petition were referred to the streets committee.

A representative of the Ohio Edison Co. will meet with Council at a committee-of-the-whole meeting Tuesday to discuss the street lighting contract now before Council.

Council passed one other ordinance under suspension of rules. The measure authorizes the Park Commission to advertise for bids for a three-year lease on certain real estate in Centennial, Kelly, and Memorial Parks for concession purposes.

Council gave first reading to an ordinance that would prohibit parking on the north side of E. 4th St. between E. School St. and N. Lincoln Ave. The matter was referred to the streets committee.

The ordinance is designated to alleviate school bus problems on the street.

Youngstown Man Held In County Jail

LISBON — George Bradovich of Youngstown was picked up by Youngstown police at New Castle, Pa., and returned to Columbiana County jail Tuesday afternoon after Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp increased his bond from $7,000 to $25,000.

Bradovich had been taken into custody by New Castle police in connection with the theft of clothing from stores in that city, the same offense for which he is awaiting sentence in Columbiana County. He pleaded guilty here Feb. 6 on a charge of stealing approximately $800 worth of men's suits from two Columbiana stores.

Judge Sharp had lowered his bond from $10,000 to $7,000 when he pleaded guilty to the charge.

the fight to save the mill—which resulted in its purchase and operation by Louis Berkman and Cyrus W. Eaton—was worth the effort. Others think a bird in hand, in this instance a going factory, is worth more than a factory site.

How do the folks in Follansbee feel? Well, there's Delmar Jenkins, city manager for many years. He says gross sales tax reports show business is better than it was a year ago.

Herman Rogerson, young city solicitor, says "We had the best year in our history in 1956, even with the slowing in steel here which started in October. The mill still is operating and is in better shape than two years ago."

Merle Gaudio, member of City Council and chairman of the mill grievance committee, is not so cheerful.

"Things don't look so good, and we wonder if they intend to keep the mill," he says. But he noted he worked four days last week and is scheduled for four more this week.

Frank Basil, former mayor, now tax assessor, and his wife who handles income tax returns for many Follansbee residents are among the optimists. "If we're hurting, it doesn't show in the income tax reports," Mrs. Basil says.

Dewey Olson, plant manager of the Follansbee mill, points to unfinished steel coils, ready for processing, piled all over the plant. There is about $5,000,000 worth at current steel prices and more being shipped in. He showed machinery in good condition, buildings in excellent shape.

Berkman cites payrolls for 1955 totalling $3,818,000 and for 1956 adding to $4,266,000.

"Since the mill was being sold for junk, this $8,000,000 payroll in two years certainly couldn't hurt the community," he observes.

Employees in the mill and the specialty plant adjoining it number nearly 800. Early in February approximately 150 men were laid off with no definite date for coming back.

But company records show that less than 50 per cent of the total working force lives in Follansbee. The others live in Steubenville, Ohio, Wellsburg, W. Va., and surrounding communities. This probably is one reason why Follansbee does not show much effect from the slow period at the mill. Many Follansbee residents work in other plants in Weirton, W. Va., Steubenville and elsewhere.

Mrs. Basil cites another factor in the local situation: "We're steel people here, and steel people expect to have good and slow periods. We just save for the slow times as part of our living expenses."

The cost of the project is estimated at $850,000.

Armstrong pointed out that from studies conducted by the State Highway Department it was found Rt. 45 between Lisbon and Salem had the least amount of sufficiency among roads in Columbiana County.

He said the terrain is rugged and does not lend itself for business sites.

Armstrong said the present stretch of highway will be kept open to travel during construction. Temporary ramps will be used for railroad and bridge crossings, he said.

The engineer emphasized that every property owner who has an access to the highway now also will have an approach to the new segment.

Fairfield Rips United 62-33 In County A Tourney

Cope Tallies 27 Points

Beaver Local Plays N. Waterford Tonight

Fairfield's Comets opened the Columbiana County Class A Basketball Tournament last night by smashing United High's inexperienced freshman and sophomore team 62-33 in a game played on the spacious United High gymnasium before about 300 fans.

Coach Bob Penrod's Golden Eagles couldn't seem to get started as their shots either went in and out of the basket, or were just falling short of their mark, as the team gave it their best all the way.

On the other hand the Comets used their height to advantage, clearing both backboards time and time again to aid them in their victory. They pressed the Golden Eagles on defense and either intercepted bad passes or had United throwing the ball away.

The hard luck United team didn't score their first basket until early in the second quarter when Jim Summer tallied at 1 minute and two seconds of the period.

HOWDIE COPE was drawing praise from the crowd as he had his pet jump shot working all night and with an occasional lay up via the fast break, he tallied 13 baskets and one foul shot for 27 markers.

From the field the Golden Eagles attempted 46 field goals but could only score seven times for a low 15.2 per cent, and from the foul lane they made 19 of 35 gift shots of a fair 54.2 per cent.

Fairfield shot 83 times and hit the nets on 27 of these attempts for 32.5 per cent, and from the charity circle the Comets hit on 8 of 18 gift tosses for 47 per cent.

In the first period Bing Newton's Comets scored first as Cope tallied with 45 seconds gone, but Gary Lindensmith made two charity tosses and tied the game at 2-2 with one minute gone. This was as close as the Golden Eagles came in the game.

Fairfield meshed the nets for 20 markers and held the United team to but eight gift shots to lead at the end of the initial frame.

BY INTERMISSION time the Comets had scored 10 more markers and their tight defense had held the Golden Eagles to just one basket and four foul shots and the score read Fairfield 30 and United 14.

In the third stanza the Comets safely tucked the game away as they tallied 18 more points and held their opponents to one basket and four fouls again, and going into the final frame the Fairfield team had a commanding 48 to 20 lead.

Gary Lindensmith led the losers with three baskets and four foul shots for 10 points and teammate Jim Summer made one basket and three fouls for five markers.

Charles Miner of the Comets also looked sharp as he scored 6 baskets and 6 fouls for 18 markers and his work on the backboards getting many of the rebounds was a great asset to the team.

Tonight's action at the United gymnasium finds Beaver Local playing the New Waterford quintet with game time slated for 8 p.m.

Thomson Favored In Houston Open

By MAX B. SKELTON HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Peter Thomson, the pudgy Australian who has won the British Open Championship three straight years has moved in among the favorites on the eve of the $36,000 Houston Open.

Rain and cold wind did not bother Thomson Tuesday as he played his first 18 holes since December and fired a five-under-par 66 to win $450 in top money in a $5,000 pro-amateur event preliminary to Thursday's opening of the richest tournament on the winter golf tour.

Harry Dee, 31-year-old Hartdale, N. Y., pro, led qualifiers with a four-under-par 68 fashioned with a pair of 34s.

His 68 left him one stroke ahead of Walter Cichon, Bridgeport Conn., Johnny Bulle, Phoenix, Ariz., Paul O'Leary, Bismarck, N. D., and Johnny Pott, Shreveport, La.

Fifty players qualified. Another 79 had 85 or over.

11 Added To Football Hall Of Fame Roll

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J. (AP)—The relatively new National Football Hall of Fame had 110 former players and officials representing 57 colleges on its membership list today after the addition of eleven new names by its Honors Court.

Among the team-full of onetime gridiron talent announced by the selectors Tuesday is movie cowboy Johnny Mack Brown, who starred as a halfback in Alabama's 20-19 Rose Bowl victory over Washington in 1929.

Others added to the hall, located on the Rutgers University campus, were Ken Strong of New York University, George Pfann of Cornell, Erny Pinckert of Southern California, the late Marshall Newell of Harvard, the late Hunter Carpenter of Virginia Tech, Peter Mauthe of Penn State, Ira (Buck) Rodgers of West Virginia, William Corbus of Stanford, J. A. C. Weller of Princeton, and Dick Wildung of Minnesota.

Elections to the hall began in 1951 on the basis of voting by the organization's membership, recommendations by coaches, athletic directors, fellow players and sports writers, and nominations to All-American teams. To be eligible, a player must have been graduated from his college for at least 10 years.

Win Last Regular Tilt In Overtime

By BOB JULIAN

Closing their regular season with a real thriller, Coach Sam Pridon and his Salem High School freshman squad downed a never-say-die Alliance State St. five for the second time this year 46-44 in overtime play Tuesday afternoon in the local gym.

The Alliance boys were leading 40-38 in the fourth stanza when the Quakers erupted and forged into the lead 43-42 on a foul shot and basket by Jim Lehwald and a two-pointer by Ed Yates with two minutes left to be played in the game.

HEADLEY OF STATE St. after a missed shot took the ball off the boards and dribbled the length of the court and sank a beautiful one-handed jump shot to put his team in the lead for the last time 44-43 with less than one minute remaining.

Salem's Ed Yates, jockeying for position under the Salem boards, was fouled and had a chance to win the game, tie it up or lose it for the Quakers. Yates, taking his time, aimed the first shot and rang the bell to tie the tilt at 44-44. Big Ed missed his second shot and the fans broke into bedlam. Alliance came roaring up the court, trying to pull the game out, but time was not on their side and their one desperation shot missed its mark.

WITH THE FANS standing and yelling at the top of their lungs the two teams came back on the floor for the regulation three minute overtime.

The Quakers and State St. boys played cautious ball and took only what seemed like sure shots but did not connect on one and it was two foul shots by Tony Everett with one minute and 15 seconds left in the tilt that decided the outcome of the contest.

For the remainder of the three minutes both clubs tried to get that one last shot but the game ended with the Pridonmen in command of the ball and the victors. The win for the Red and Black was their 15th out of 16 starts and their 11th straight since losing to Greenford early in the season.

Alliance evened their season's mark at 7-7. Their losses include three defeats in overtimes.

SALEM RACED OUT to a 6-0 advantage in the initial canto and kept up the barrage throughout the frame to grab a 12-3 margin after the first period.

Davy Hunter sparked the locals in the frame with eight markers. In the second stanza Hunter hit on a set shot to up the Quaker lead to 14-3. Alliance came back with five markers and cut the deficit to 14-8. Salem's Jim Lehwald pumped in two points and then the visitors started to hit and scored with regularity to move around the Red and Black 21-20 with two minutes remaining till intermission.

Ed Yates then tallied four consecutive points to retain the Salemites' lead 24-21. Alliance, trying vainly to recover the lead, fell short and trailed at halftime 24-23.

ALLIANCE HAD THEIR biggest quarter as they chalked up 20 tallies while limiting Salem to 12 in the period.

In the third quarter the Pridonmen maintained their slim margin for four and a half minutes before Alliance tied the count at 28-28. From this point on the game seemed back and forth, with the visitors moving into command 30-28 late in the period and holding a margin of three points at the end of three periods of play 38-35.

Boring sparked Alliance in the frame, scoring eight of State Streets' 15 markers. Salem chalked up 11 in the canto.

The final stanza saw Alliance hold the lead until the two minute mark when Yates knotted the score at 44-44.

Paving the way for Salem was Yates with 15 markers, followed by Hunter with 11.

Alliance' big gun was Boarderly with 12 points.

SALEM TRIED 55 shots from the field, bagging 19 for a percentage of 32. From the free throw stripe they hit on eight of 21 for 38 per cent.

Doing slightly better than the Pridonmen in the shooting department, Alliance dumped in 18 of 51 attempts from the field for 35 per cent, and they meshed 42 per cent of their fouls, caging eight of 19 tries.

The Quakers will enter the Hubbard Junior High cage tournament which will get under way March 4. Time, place and opponent will be announced later.

Unofficial statistics of team scoring and individual scoring for the regular season is as follows: Salem scored a total of 755 markers in 16 tilts for a 47 point per game average while their foes dumped in 577 tallies for an average of 36 per contest.

The game was furiously fought all the way. East Palestine held a one-point lead 17-16 at the end of the first period, but the Blue Devils forged ahead 32-25 by the intermission.

East Palestine scored 21 points in the third period to whittle Lisbon's lead to two points 48-46.

Gibson paced the victors with 20 points.

Pudge Ramsey was high for Lisbon with 19 markers, and Curt Nicholson tallied 14 points for the losers.

Denison Trips Kenyon In Final Seconds

By The Associated Press

Big scores and tight games seemed to characterize Tuesday night's college basketball action.

Two games in Tuesday night's crowded schedule had to go into overtime, and in two other games, a couple of quintets went over the 100-point mark in chalking up victories.

Denison's Ron Gearhart scored with 20 seconds remaining in the overtime period to lead the Big Red to a 77-77 Ohio Conference victory over the Kenyon Lords at Granville.

At Ada, with a scant two seconds remaining in the overtime period, Ohio Northern's Merrill Castle tossed in a field goal to give the Polar Bears a 79-78 win over Bluffton in a Mid-Ohio League game.

Hitting the big scores were Wooster College, with a 109-74 win over Washington & Jefferson at Wooster, and Defiance College, with a 107-71 triumph over the Wilberforce Bulldogs. It was the 25th straight home court win for the Yellow Jackets.

Playing at home, Kent State came from behind with less than three minutes to play to defeat Bowling Green 80-75 for its second Mid-American Conference victory of the season.

In three games played at Cleveland, Muskingum rolled to an easy 84-68 decision over Case Tech. Oberlin held on to a one-point lead to defeat Western Reserve 58-57, and St. Vincent (Pa.) defeated John Carroll 75-73.

At Ashland, Findlay College whipped Ashland College 80-72.

At Cedarville, Wilmington held off a late drive by Cedarville to gain an 84-68 victory in a Mid-Ohio League game, and at Detroit, Youngstown trounced Lawrence Tech 101-74.

Meningitis Postpones High School Tourney

CALDWELL, Ohio (AP)—The Noble County basketball tournament was called off Tuesday night as a precaution against the further spread of contagious meningitis.

Dr. N. S. Reed, Noble County health officer, said a high school girl came down with the illness last Wednesday.

He said the tournament can probably be resumed Thursday when the seven-day incubation period of the disease will have passed.

Fights I Can't Forget . . . No. 9

'I Stay Here,' Jack Snarled, So Tunney Count Went To 14

By NAT FLEISCHER

Written for NEA Service

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Referee Dave Barry stepped in as Gene Tunney slumped to the canvas, badly hurt from Jack Dempsey's two-handed attack.

"Go to a neutral corner, Jack," Barry said.

"I stay here," snarled Dempsey, with a scowl.

Tunney had fallen directly over my press row seat and I heard the exchange between Dempsey and Barry clearly. The referee had come up, arm ready to start the count, then realized Dempsey was not moving. He took Jack by the arm, but it was a couple of seconds before Dempsey cleared out and the count could be started.

THIS WAS, OF COURSE the seventh round of the second Dempsey-Tunney fight, at Chicago, Sept. 22, 1927. For most of six rounds, Dempsey was in trouble with Tunney. He simply could not catch Gene and was taking a good lacing while trying it.

But here in the seventh, the famed killing power in Dempsey's fists had exploded. He hurt Tunney with a left hook, then a short right fogged Gene's brain. A terrible battering stacked Tunney against the ropes, where he took as murderous a left hook as ever seen, then a series of short rights before going down.

It was to be 14 seconds before Tunney came off the floor. That was my count and that is the way it will remain in my history. Others have argued that Tunney was down for nearly 30 seconds.

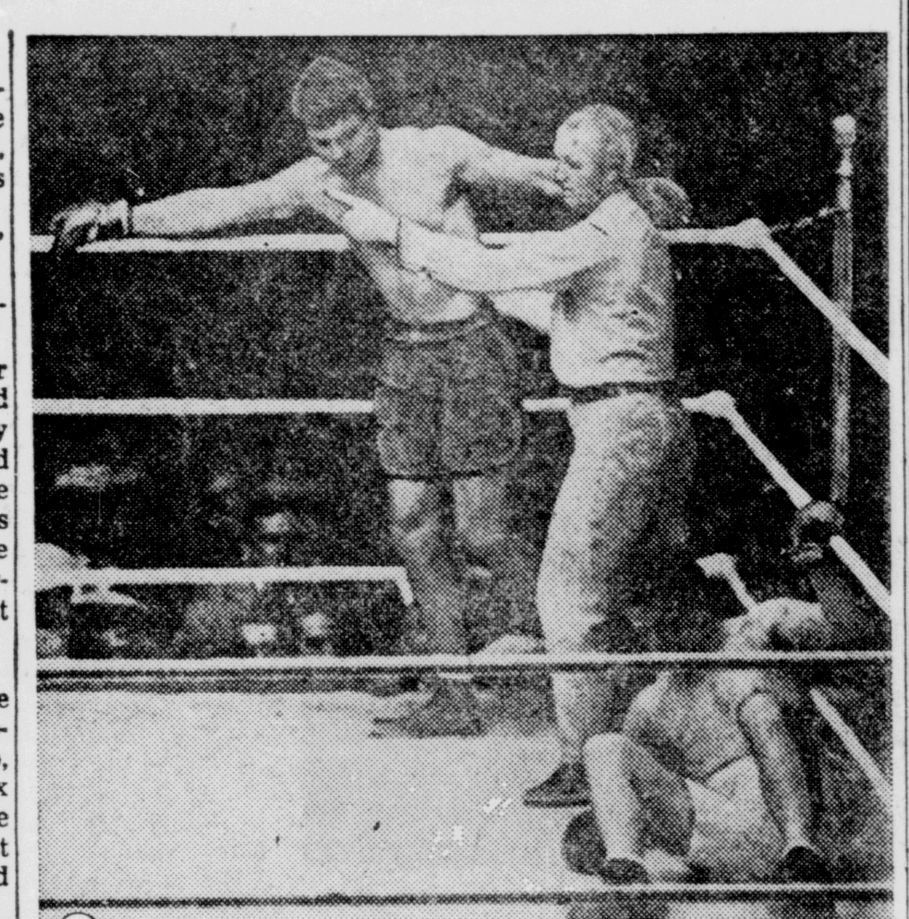

Fourteen it was, and it probably was the most valuable space of time in Tunney's life. Dempsey wanted things his way — the old way — standing directly over a fallen opponent and hitting him the moment his knee left the canvas.

REFEREE BARRY WANTED IT according to the rules. So Tunney, trying to clear his head, came to one knee and waited as Barry, five seconds late in starting the count, reached nine.

Then Gene got up. And this was not a dull-minded desperate fighter who reached his feet. The Tunney who came off the floor was, instead, a smart fighter who ranks with boxing's all-time best as a master of the science.

Gene started circling the ring. His legs moved, moved, moved. And he lured Dempsey into a mistake. The old Dempsey would have piled into him, both hands shooting. But the Dempsey who lost this fight tried to stalk the circling Tunney. He followed Gene's monotonous circles — and after a while found he didn't have the speed to catch his man.

DEMPSEY THEN STOPPED in the middle of the ring, put his gloves down and snarled: "Quit your running. Come on and fight." But Tunney would not gamble.

STILL FIGHTING — Jack Dempsey and Referee Dave Barry wrangled over what was a neutral corner — while Gene Tunney started pulling himself up.

Weakened, he would have been no match for Dempsey. So, he kept pecking with that left jab and moving on those beautifully conditioned legs of his.

Tunney lasted the round and in the eighth, he broke out of his pecking with a short right which put Dempsey on the floor. Gene Tunney, heavyweight champion, was back in stride again.

The rest of the fight had Tunney in command. Dempsey won only three of the 10 rounds. Mostly, he didn't have the old fire and speed to get to the accomplished, conditioned fighter who had taken his title at Philadelphia and now refused to give it up.

There were 104,943 fans at Chicago's Soldier Field that night. They paid a tremendous $2,658,660 to witness the battle.

And the thrill from those 14 seconds still carries over in my memory.

By R. L. LIDE

Night hunting is now a thing of the past until next fall when the 1957 season opens.

I have had numerous requests for applications to keep live raccoon captured during the open season. The 25th day of February is the last date for applying for permits, so if you have a 'coon and want to keep it for a pet, either contact your game protector or drop him a card and make your request before the deadline which is 10 days after the season closed. The permits are free.

TALKING RECENTLY with Elvie Holman of East Liverpool, he recalled that while fishing on the Shade River in Meigs County he stepped in a hole and felt something like a briar thorn puncture his leg. Paying no attention to it he went back to camp. Twelve hours later one of his friends heard him moaning in his sleep and went to investigate. His leg was badly swollen below the knee to the ankle. Then it was discovered he had been bitten by a copperhead snake.

He drove his car to the nearest doctor for treatment. Later he investigated the hole he stepped into and found he had stepped into a copperhead nest.

Some were killed under his heel. So there you have it . . . anytime, come spring and you fish Beaver Creek any place below Lisbon, wear boots beneath your pants. That is about the beginning of the copperhead range.

AREA SPORTSMEN are waiting with interest the final construction of the new lake at Highlandtown. Representative Dutch Wetzel has been pushing this project vigorously with the blessings of the anglers. All lands have been purchased. Some extensive game management projects will be put into effect. Hunting can be improved considerably and will be open to the public.

I do not know of a cheaper way to buy lands for the benefit of the hunters and the fishermen. The federal excise tax on hunting and fishing equipment costs 75 per cent of the bill, the other 25 per cent coming from the Ohio Division of Wildlife. So in the final analysis the hunters and fishermen are paying for it.

If you do not buy hunting and fishing equipment or a hunting license then no need to worry about this money coming from the taxpayers as it has not cost you one penny. But the hunters and fishermen are getting something for the thousands of dollars they pay. The outdoorsmen have no objection to footing the bill. In fact they are delighted.

Also, to my way of thinking, Columbiana County has about the best lake sites of any county in this section of Ohio. Lands can still be bought at a fair price and most lands being utilized for fishing and hunting areas are not the best farm lands.

There are many good areas in this county that make ideal camp sites for church groups, youth organizations or just plain summer homes for people who like to get out in the fresh air.

Farm ponds are springing up like mushrooms simply because we have numerous springs and low spots in the proper drainage areas that makes construction cheap and recreation worth more than dollars and cents.

Cut Forces Fuller Out Of Bout With Cotton

DENVER (AP) — A cut over his left eye has forced middleweight champion Gene Fullmer to bow out of his scheduled 10-round bout here next Wednesday against Charley Cotton of Toledo.

Promoter Joe Dupler said veteran Ralph (Tiger) Jones of Yonkers, N. Y., will be substitute for the 160-pound titlist. The fight will be nationally televised (ABC-TV, 9 p. m. CST).

Fullmer suffered the gash in the first round of his 10-round win over Ernie Durando in Denver Auditorium Arena Monday night.

Thomas Service, Purity Dairy, Yankees Get Ditmar, Shantz

Six Players Traded To Kansas City A's

Thomas Westville Service handed Souders Engineering their first defeat of the season 50-46, Purity Dairy smashed John's Pennzoil 56-38, and Petrucci's crushed Suburban Market 58-44, in City League games played at the Memorial Building last night.

Gasco won on a forfeit over Gordon Scott Sports 2-0, which constitutes Gordon's third forfeit this season and automatically drops them from further league competition.

In the upset Thomas took the lead in the opening quarter in this thriller 10-8, but by intermission Souders scored 15 points to the opponents nine, and the Engineering five now led 23 to 19.

Souders increased their margin over the Service quintet in the third frame and going into the final period they led 35-28. But Thomas came to life and tallied 22 markers in this quarter to upset the Engineers for the victory. G. Kitzmiller scored 16 markers for the winners, and G. Steitz tallied 13 points for the losers.

Purity Dairy stepped out to a first quarter score of 12-9 and were never headed as they led at half time 26-19, and at the end of three frames Purity held a 40-28 lead.

McLaughlin led the winners 10th 20 markers, and for the losers Toot was high scorer with 13 points. In the final tilt of the evening Petrucci trailed throughout the first half and then stormed back in the second half to win in a football-style game.

With fifteen seconds left in the game the officials called the contest with Petrucci well ahead. Suburban led 15-13 at the end of the initial period, and also at half time 28-24. But in the third quarter Petrucci caught and passed the Market five and led 43-37 going into the final frame.

Hoopes led the winners with 21 points, and Alesi tallied 17 markers for the losers.

Yankees Get Ditmar, Shantz

NEW YORK (AP)—Casey Stengel, the master manager who says "I've never seen a man yet who couldn't use a pitcher," today can add Art Ditmar and Bobby Shantz to a staff he already had figured deep enough to bring his New York Yankees still another American League pennant.

Ditmar, a 27-year-old right-hander, and Shantz, a stubby, 31-year-old southpaw, were the key men for the Yankees in a 13-player trade with the Kansas City Athletics Tuesday.

Two weeks ago Stengel confidently listed "my seven pitchers" — Whitey Ford, Don Larsen, Bob Turley, Johnny Kucks, Tom Sturdivant, Bob Grim and Tommy Byrne.

He left no doubt that he considered the staff had enough depth to win him an eighth pennant.

Along with the two new front-line pitchers — two, that is, if Shantz can lose his sore arm troubles — the Yankees also received infielder Wayne Belardi, southpaw pitcher Jack McManhan and two players yet to be named. At least one of the "unknowns" is ticketed for the Yanks' Denver farm in the American Assn. along with Belardi and McManhan.

In return, New York shipped outfielder Irv Noren, shortstop Billy Hunter and second baseman Milt Graff and pitchers Maury McDermott, Tom Morgan and Rip Coleman to the A's, who also will be assigned another player by April 15. The three pitchers were second-line relievers in Stengel's box.

In the original trade setup, New York also was to have received infielder Cletis Boyer. It wasn't until after the swap was announced that the two clubs were advised by the league that Boyer, as a $50,000 bonus player in 1955, couldn't switch clubs until his two-year bonus period runs out May 31.

A Yankee spokesman said the club would receive a "substitute" player for Boyer — or perhaps Boyer himself — by the June 15 trading deadline.

Stengel commented that "Kansas City got a better club by making this deal," the largest in the majors since the Yanks and Baltimore shuffled 17 players around — with Larsen and Turley going to New York — Nov. 18, 1954.

"They got a doubleplay combination in Graff (who hit .31 at Birmingham in the Southern Assn. last season) and Hunter," said Case, "and they got three experienced pitchers. That's what they needed most — a double-play combination and pitching."

"Of course, they didn't put a gun to my head. We knew what we were after — Ditmar and Shantz. Everything depends on Shantz. If his arm comes through I've got a good deal. If not, I'm hooked and it will be my fault because we know all about his bad arm."

The Yankees, confronted by a big payroll and a number of players dissatisfied with contract offers, had signed only Hunter for 1957 among the players traded to the A's. Said personnel director Lee MacPhail: "We have too many big league players. We had to cut down."

Only Ditmar was as yet unsigned for '57 by the A's among the players involved in the trade, and he shouldn't prove troublesome to the Yankees.

The A's, were quite happy with the deal. Both President Arnold Johnson and manager Lou Boudreau feel they have strengthened their infield with Hunter, 28, and Graff, 26, and now have a suitable pitching staff with McDermott, a 28-year-old southpaw who was 2-6 in '56; Coleman, 25, a 3-5 right-hander, and Morgan, a 26-year-old righthanded reliever who was 6-7.

Jury Deliberates In Aragon's Trial

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Deliberations resumed today in the trial of welterweight Art Aragon, accused of offering an opponent $500 to throw a fight in Texas.

The jury of six women and six men deliberated more than five hours Tuesday before being locked up for the night.

The jurors returned to the courtroom once Tuesday to re-hear Aragon's testimony of a visit to his North Hollywood home by boxer Dick Goldstein, who charges that the Golden Boy offered him the money to take a fourth-round dive.

The bout, scheduled for Dec. 18 at San Antonio, was canceled when Aragon came down with a fever.

A conviction carries up to five years in prison. It could also put Aragon down for the count as far as his boxing career is concerned. He has not been issued a 1957 boxing license and the State Athletic Commission has indicated he won't get one if found guilty.

Aragon, 29, has been boxing professionally since 1944. A better puncher than boxer, he earned nearly a half million dollars in the ring.

The Golden Boy is charged with corrupt sporting practices — offering a bribe to a participant in a sporting contest.

To Decide Fate Of Malabar

State May Purchase Bromfield's Farm

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio will take a long step today toward deciding the fate of famed Malabar Farm, home of the late conservationist and Pulitzer Prize-winning author, Louis Bromfield.

The House will vote on a resolution creating a committee to study the possibility of state purchase of the 640-acre farm. It is in Richland County.

The price tag on the farm, resurrected by Bromfield from eroded and depleted acreage, is $145,000. If the state buys the farm, it probably would be used as the site of a new state university.

The House also scheduled a vote on an emergency measure to permit the trustees of the state universities to buy sites near the campuses for dormitories and other university buildings.

The House approved Tuesday and sent to the Senate a pair of bills to improve the pensions for widows and orphans of police and firemen. Both passed unanimously.

One bill boosts pensions for widows of policemen and firemen from $0 to $75 a month. It increases pensions for orphans from $30 to $35 a month while removing the present $90 limit in that bracket. If the proposal becomes law, some 2,700 widows and 400 orphans probably would receive increases.

The other bill would base a fireman's pension on the five years of his greatest earnings. Now it is based on his earnings in the five years immediately preceding his retirement. Police now have the same pension formula as the bill for firemen proposes.

Introduction of 53 more bills Tuesday increased the number of proposed laws this session to 577 with exactly two weeks left before the deadline. The total two years ago was above 1,300, but it is possible that number still may be exceeded this session. Bills offered Tuesday included proposals to:

Transfer the control of the criminal identification bureau from the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction to the attorney general.

Require a vote of the people of the political subdivision involved before an income tax could be levied.

Tax juke boxes $50 a year to raise funds for retarded children. Cut from five to two years the state's power to assess and collect back taxes.

Limit a person, firm or corporation to two over-the-bar liquor permits.

Require pawnbrokers to keep thumbprint records of pledgers and sellers.

Permit the state highway director to hire outside help for the actual buying of highway rights-of-way. This is a bill sponsored by the administration of Gov. C. William O'Neill.

Extend the jurisdiction of the Mansfield Municipal Court.

Require bread wrappers to carry the date of baking.

Limit the tax commissioner's power to correct tax returns to two years. (A half-dozen bills cover various taxes.)

Establish uniform markings of all traffic lights in Ohio after Jan. 1, 1958, requiring words "stop" on red lights; "go" on green and "caution" on amber.

Permit the superintendent of each state mental hospital to appoint an advisory council.

Require the posting of a bond when application is made for a reassessment under the axle-mile tax.

Permit a candidate seeking a recount to wait until the recount starts to designate the precincts to be recounted.

Permit a six-month driver license for an epileptic.

Romulo Says U. S. Needs World Allies

NEW ORLEANS, (AP)—Philippine Ambassador Carlos Romulo told the Mississippi Valley World Trade Conference Tuesday night that America is engaged in a life and death global struggle that no nation — no matter how powerful or rich — can hope to win alone.

Romulo said that President Eisenhower, Secretary of States Dulles and Vice President Nixon realized this situation. That is the reason, he said, Nixon and Dulles travel so much.

"National friendship cannot be taken for granted; it must be cultivated and nurtured," Romulo said.

TO AUSTRALIA—William Joseph Sebald, deputy assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs, is expected to be named ambassador to Australia. Sebald would replace Douglas M. Moffat, who died in Sydney last August.

Hospital Abolishes Psychiatrist's Job

TIFFIN, Ohio (AP)—The position of staff psychiatrist at Tiffin State Hospital has been abolished, Dr. M. T. Smith, hospital superintendent, announced Tuesday.

Dr. H. Kenneth Moir, fired by Smith Jan. 27, has appealed to the Ohio Civil Service Commission, which set a hearing for March 18.

"Since the job is now abolished there is no point in an appeal," Dr. Smith said.

He explained that Moir was reinstated for the period Jan. 27 to Feb. 20 "to clear the payroll," but that the reinstatement was a technicality so Moir could be paid for "time due."

Dr. Smith accused Dr. Moir of not being able to get along with hospital personnel when he removed Moir from the $1,291-a-month staff psychiatrist post.

The superintendent said he had notified Moir that the post had been abolished, effective today.

Dr. Moir had served as superintendent of both the Rollman Receiving Hospital in Cincinnati and the Massillon State Hospital prior to coming here.

Ex-Gambler Cited For $151,583 In Taxes

CINCINNATI (AP)—Harry (Happy) Gleis, onetime gambling figure in nearby Norwood, must pay $151,583 in back income tax. That's the ruling by the U. S. Court of Appeals which Tuesday affirmed a tax court finding of March 2, 1956.

Gleis' troubles started in November, 1947 when he was indicted on a charge of keeping rooms for gambling purposes. He pleaded guilty to one of five counts and paid a fine, but this led to revocation of a liquor license for his night club. A U. S. Treasury Department investigation followed.

2,000 Tons Of Rock Falls Onto Thruway

ELMSFORD, N.Y. (AP)—An estimated 2,000 tons of rock cascaded on southbound lanes of the New York Thruway Tuesday.

Workmen had two lanes open within hours but William F. Bristow, a thruway division engineer, said it may take a week to clear all debris. Some of the boulders weigh 15 tons.

No one was injured. The slide occurred in Westchester County midway between Elmsford and the Saw Mill River interchange.

Bristow said recent temperature changes affected water seams in the rock formation, "eventually loosening the rock."

Hot-Rodders' Car Hits Tombstones; Boy Dies

NEW YORK (AP)—A stripped-down car, driven by two young hot rodgers, smashed into a row of tombstones in a Bronx cemetery Tuesday. One boy was killed, the other critically injured.

Police said the two youths apparently were testing their contraption on a road in St. Raymond's Cemetery when it went out of control.

Found dead was 17-year-old James Navan of Sterling, Conn., believed to have been the driver. Critically injured was William Schroeder, also 17, of the Bronx.

Sunken Andrea Doria Placed Up For Sale

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—You can buy the luxury liner Andrea Doria, as is, if you want to gamble on raising her.

An unidentified Rhode Islander may be interested in doing just that.

Russell Adams, an official of Gorham Mfg. Co., said Tuesday he had located a person, whom he declined to identify, who says he could raise the sunken liner by "internal flotation."

The Andrea Doria sank off Nantucket last July with a loss of 50 lives after a collision with the liner Stockholm.

Adams said he had received a letter from Italy that the insurers of the liner have given up any idea of trying to raise the ship.

Adams said, however, that the letter made it clear that the insurers would continue to hold title to the liner until it can be sold as is to anyone who wants to gamble on raising it.

110 Attend Columbiana Legion Birthday Banquet

COLUMBIANA — Joseph Bryan of Truscon Steel, Youngstown, the speaker at the annual Washington's birthday banquet of Firestone American Legion Post in Joshua Dixon School Monday evening deplored the lack of attention to the teaching of American history in schools and colleges of the U.S.

His criticism came in his talk on "The Challenge of Communism," in which he traced its development from its origination by Karl Marx. Mr. Bryan has been with Truscon division of Republic Steel for 22 years.

Commander William Duffy of Firestone Post presided for the program following the dinner served by members of the Booster Club and their wives. One hundred ten persons attended.

Responses for participating organizations were made by Harold Armstrong, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Willard Ferrall, president of the Kiwanis Club; I. P. Lewis, vice president of the Rotary Club; Lee Harrold, president of Fairfield Ruritan Club, and Forrest Stark, president of the Booster Club. The Rev. H. J. Schiedmantele of the Presbyterian Church offered the invocation.

IT WAS ANNOUNCED by the Kiwanis Club that it has accepted a recent challenge from the Rotary Club for a basketball game as a benefit for the fund being raised to finish payment on the $5,000 debt remaining on the stadium lights in Firestone Park. Committees of the clubs will arrange the date.

Visiting Kiwanians at the banquet were Jack Race and Ralph Martin, of Salem, and visiting Rotarians Charles Webber of Lisbon, J. R. Stiver of Salem, and J. L. Alderman of Garrettsville.

Lee Myers of East Palestine, lieutenant governor of the 15th division of the Ohio district of Kiwanis, will pay his official visit to the Columbiana club at Heck's restaurant at 6:30 p.m. next Monday. The February meeting of the club directors will follow in the restaurant the club program.

High School Coach Richard Berryman, program chairman for the meeting of the Rotary Club at Valley Golf at 6:30 next Monday, will present a program on the Rotary "Four-Way Test."

Twenty-five members of Columbiana branch of Salem Hospitals Auxiliary met in the Methodist Church Monday and made 35 surgical towels, 12 large surgical wrappers, 117 tea towels and 114 diapers. The branch is receiving dues for the year and will welcome new members.

A DELEGATION from Dublin Grange, Canfield, conferred the third and fourth degrees on five candidates at the meeting of Midway Grange, southwest of Columbiana on Route 164, Saturday evening. A large attendance witnessed the degree and drill team work of the visiting grange.

Refreshments were served by a committee of Midway Grange appointed by William Readshaw, grange master. A health program is being planned for the next meeting of Midway Grange, Saturday evening, March 2.

Taxes Taking Big Bite Of TV Prizes

NEW YORK (AP) — Tax experts figure that television's top money winner, 11-year-old Lennie Ross, will keep somewhere between $60,000 and $70,000 of the $164,000 he walked away with.

The calendar is a big help to the young stock-market expert since he won $100,000 on a quiz show last year and the balance on another show this year. By declaring his income in separate years he saves, about $5,000, the experts estimate. They say his taxes will be $60-$65,000 for last year, and $32-$36,000 this year.

Not so lucky is Columbia University instructor Charles Van Doren, who has won $143,000 so far.

His winnings will be paid this year and that makes him liable to a $10,000 to $110,000 tax bite. This will leave the $4,400 a year teacher about $40,000.

The government draws no distinction between Van Doren's winnings and young Ross' although the latter's will go into a trust fund for his education and mature years.

An internal revenue official said young Ross, or his parents, will have to pay the taxes first and then set up the trust fund.

The official also threw cold water on the suggestion that Van Doren can reduce his taxes by taking his winnings over the next five years. Unless Van Doren had contracted beforehand to spread out any winnings, he said, the tax must be paid on the full amount.

One television show pays off in monthly installments, over a number of years, reducing considerably the taxes, he said, but this is permitted because it is an advance arrangement.

The L. L. Class will meet in the Presbyterian Church at 8 p.m. Friday. Mrs. Harry Warrick and Mrs. William Schlag will be hostesses.

Thirteen members of Columbiana High School Band and 12 from the High School choral group will take part in the music festival in Lisbon High School auditorium at 8 p.m. Friday. Preceding the evening program, there will be forenoon and afternoon rehearsals. Guest conductors will be from Baldwin-Wallace College, Kenneth Snapp of the band department and Varner Chance of the choral department.

Superintendent D. W. Bailey of Columbiana schools was expected home today from Atlantic City, where he has been in attendance at the national convention of the Association of School Administrators.

A limit of 960 boys has been set by the Ohio Department of the American Legion for 1957 Boys' State at Camp Perry, June 7-16. The 10th district of the department, largest district in the state, with 82 posts, embracing Columbiana, has an allotment of 125 delegates. Firestone Post of Columbiana sends every year three high school juniors, two from Columbiana and one from Fairfield. The tuition fee remains unchanged at $35 a boy.

The Music Boosters Club is sponsoring a dance at Fairfield School from 9 p.m. to midnight next Saturday. "Slim" Monroe and his music makers will play for round and square dancing.
